Dear Mrs Price,

Choral Evensong – St Mellons Parish Church – 5th February

On behalf of St Mellons Parish Church I would like you to thank the children, parents and staff who attended Choral Evensong last Sunday.

The children sang like little angels and I believe they were note perfect. They were a credit to you, the school and their families. One of my parishioners (an ex-school teacher) said that the children had acquitted themselves well, especially as Choral Evensong is not an easy service. They helped to lift us all up to the rafters and, metaphorically, to the heavens above. I don't suppose there can be many church schools that can pull off such an achievement in their local parish church. The readers too were of the highest standard.

Many thanks to you for your direction of the choir, my wife for her accompaniment and to Mrs Vaughan for help in the preparation. Next stop St Woolos Cathedral – mind you I think we can knock spots off their choir!

I hope parents will not mind if I write an article for the Diocesan Magazine and the Parish Website and include a group photo. If any parent does have an objection they can contact me on the number at the top of this letter.

Yours sincerely,

David Kellen – Vicar of St Mellons

PS – my wife told me that there was a possibility of laughter at my singing. I am glad the children were so well behaved and did not laugh. Silly Mrs K!
